Ashley Carranco has the honor and privilege to serve as a Leader in Me Coach and Consultant for FranklinCovey.

Prior to joining FranklinCovey in 2015, Ashley served as a teacher, Instructional Specialist, Assistant Principal, and Principal. Her first introduction to the 7 Habits of Highly Effective People was in college, as a student at Baylor University. Ashley now presents those same habits and concepts to diverse audiences, gaining new knowledge and perspectives that impacts her personal and professional life each time she delivers or experiences the 7 Habits.

Ashley is a dynamic presenter, an active listener, and has a Strengths-finder top strength of WOO (winning others over). She is a lifelong learner passionate about leaving the world better than she found it. These qualities enable her to better connect with her audience and create high engagement, impactful connection, and meaningful results.

A native Texan, Ashley proudly calls Houston, Texas home. She enjoys spending time with her family, cheering loudly at sporting events, and traveling the world.
